FRIDAY May 19

Registration, all talks, and all coffee breaks will take place at the main building of the Faculty of Arts, nám. J. Palacha 1

8:15 – 16:30	Registration: 1st floor (i.e. one flight of stairs up, following the ICCG-12 signs), in front of room #104
9:15 – 9:30	Room #200 Opening ceremony: Mirjam Fried, Dean Eva Lehečková
9:30 – 10:30	Plenary talk: room #200 Chair: Laura Michaelis-Cummings Jenny Audring Construction Morphology: Implications, opportunities, consequences
10:30 – 11:00	COFFEE BREAK, room #116
	Session I: room #104 Chair: Joren Somers	Session II: room #217 Chair: Stefan Hartmann	Session III: room #111 Chair: Claudia Lehmann	Session IV: room #317 Chair: Hans Boas
11:00 – 11:30	Herbst & Hoffmann: CASA – A constructionist approach to syntactic analysis	Sokolova: Constructional variation vs. constructional contamination: a special case of new Russian [N[N]] compounds	Benen: Contextually constrained, locally free – Shifted subjectivity and non-anaphoric reflexives	Perek & Ziem: Building a parallel construction: A case study of Judgment_ Communication constructions in English and German
11:30 – 12:00	Ilioiaia: Alternating predicates in Romanian: preliminary insights from a pilot experimental study	Belosevic: The interplay between frame semantics and construction morphology in modeling the meaning of compounds	Sambre: Networked constructions of antimafia resistance in a local Italian grammar	Ohara: Can frames describe meanings of grammatical constructions?
12:00 – 12:30	Bouso: Modelling the SOC in Contemporary American English	Droste: Upheaval. Prefixal up and its many functions from a Construction Morphology perspective	Geka: Atypical imperatives in focus: A constructional account of ‘you do that’	Ziem: How to document and implement constructional meanings in a construction: a frame-based approach
12:30 – 12:45	--	--	Piunno: Lexically open idioms. Quantitative and qualitative analysis of the non fare che construction in Italian	Sung & Kyle: Automatic identification of motion constructions in L1 and L2 English spoken corpora

12:45 – 14:00	LUNCH BREAK
	Session V: room #104 Chair: Laura Michaelis-Cummings	Session VI: room #217 Chair: Stefan Hartmann	Session VII: room #111 Chair: Vassiliki Geka	Session VIII: room #317 Chair: Hans Boas
14:00 – 14:30	Bloom: Integration, resumption and adjunction: The relation between Early New High German preposed adverbial clauses and their host	Van Goethem: The Dutch Expressive Binominal Construction in syntax and morphology	Östman & Lehecka: Constructional preference: the case of question formation	Olofsson: Earlier and later - Time constructions in Swedish
14:30 – 15:00	Cencherle, Busso, & Masini: Italian goes creative too: a closer look at VIA 'away' verb-particle constructions	Bordag, Opitz, & Nir: Psycholinguistic evidence for abstract morphosyntactic schemes and the challenge of asymmetric priming	Zhukova, Janda, & Endresen: Constructions within and beyond a single clause in the system of Russian reduplication	Smirnova & Audring: Constructionalization and productivity: an exploration of the constructional diversity of German hin-/her-adverbials
15:00 – 15:30	Shirtz & Goldberg: The Phrase-as-Lemma Construction in English	Mäntylä: The combinations of a Finnish imperative-form verb and a clitic particle as constructions	Van den Stock, Ghyselen, & Colleman: Individual differences in linguistic creativity: user-related determinants in attitudes towards grammatical productivity	Van Hulle & Enghels: Productivity (metrics) and semantics: a Principal Components Analysis on the inchoative construction
15:30 – 16:00	Bîlbîie: Same form, but not the same construction: pseudostripping vs. stripping in Romanian	--	Sommerer: If that's what she said, that's what she said: an analysis of pleonastic conditionals in English	Hoffmann: Constructionist approaches to creativity
16:00 – 16:30	COFFEE BREAK, room #116
16:30 – 17:30	Plenary talk: room #200 Chair: Mirjam Fried Nigel Ward Prosodic constructions
18:00 – 20:00	Welcome Reception; Hybernská 4

SATURDAY May 20

Registration, all talks, and all coffee breaks will take place at the main building of the Faculty of Arts, nám. J. Palacha 1

9:00 – 17:00	Registration: 1st floor (i.e. one flight of stairs up), in front of room #104
9:30 – 10:30	Plenary talk: room #200 Chair: Jakub Jehlička Michaela Martinková English and Czech verbs of motion: constructions in satellite framing
10:30 – 11:00	COFFEE BREAK, room #116
11:00 – 12:30	Posters: room #116
	Cane: The Albanian definite articles as constructional pairings De la Garza Espinosa, Llompart, & Dabrowska: The relationship between morphosyntactic productivity and print exposure in native Spanish speakers De Vos: A multi-modal construction grammar for sign languages Fejes: Distributive plural after numerals in Hungarian Katunar & Raffaelli: Missing parts in lexicalization strategies: the case of [A N] and [N PP] constructions in Croatian Lee & Shin: A constructionist approach to Korean locative postposition–verb construction Macias: A Cognitive Grammar introduction to the process of ‘deinitialization’ in ASL Obstová: Expressing (not only) concessivity: constructional idioms with reduplication of the verbal element in Italian and Czech Schmalz: A bidirectional computational construction grammar for German exploiting syntactico-semantic pattern finding on a learners’ corpus Shin & Shin: Interactive roles of cross-linguistic influence, usage frequency, and task effects in L2 processing of Korean dative construction
12:30 – 13:45	LUNCH BREAK
	Session I: room #104 Chair: Adele Goldberg	Session II: room #217 Chair: Kyoko Ohara	Session III: room #111 Chair: Kim Droste
13:45 – 14:15	Vetchinnikova: Exploring individual variation in constructional schematicity with mixed models	Willich & Politt: “Du hast eh voll den guten Musikgeschmack!” – Underspecification and grammaticalization of NP-external intensifying constructions in German	Daugás & Lorenz: I can’t say it’s just the verbs: using distributional and experimental data to predict preferences of negative modal contractions versus their full forms
14:15 – 14:45	Nevens, Doumen, Van Eecke, & Beuls: Learning Computational Construction Grammars through situation-based intention reading and semantico-syntactic pattern finding	Liu, Cuyckens, & Zhan: Multiple sources in the emergence of the [bi N hai N] comparative construction	Koch, Quick, & Hartmann: Detecting chunks in child bilingual code-mixing – the role of input
14:45 – 15:15	Van Eecke, Verheyen, & Beuls: Operationalising usage-based construction grammar on a large scale	Gries & Olguin Martinez: Filler-slot relations in Hypothetical Manner constructions in Mexican Spanish: a revised version of distinctive collexeme analysis	Fernández Santos, Llompart García, & Dabrowska: Evolution of cognitive representations: the case of Spanish object relatives
15:15 – 15:45	COFFEE BREAK, room #116

	Session IV: room #104 Chair: Peter Petré	Session V: room #217 Chair: Kristel van Goethem	Session VI: room #111 Chair: Jan-Ola Östman
15:45 – 16:00	Depraetere, Cappelle, De Cuyper, Grandin, & Leclercq: A forest of possibilities: predicting the choice of can, could, may, might and be able to	Ciríaco: Attendees as agents: the special transitive meaning in Brazilian Portuguese	Park: Reconstructing positional verb constructions from patterns in first language acquisition data
16:00 – 16:30	Kohn: Dog-tired and bad-ass: Nouns as adjective intensifiers	Van den Heede & Lauwers: Syntactic productivity under the microscope: the lexical and semantic openness of Dutch minimizing constructions	Cuneo & Goldberg: The discourse functions of constructions predict Island Status: Two measures of backgroundedness, 10 base constructions, 3 long-distance dependencies
16:30 – 17:00	Hsiao & Michaelis: Hammering out a corpus-based study without a hammer: Effects of semantic bleaching on argument structures of English denominal verbs	Andreasson & Lyngfelt: A semi-configurational CxG approach to clausal syntax in a verb-second language: the example of Swedish	Kim & Shin: Testing usage-based inductive modulating factors of second language processing CANCELLED
17:00 – 17:30	Gries: Collostructions revisited: making it simpler, making it better	Minami: How paradigmatic contrast works in the grammar network: the case of the mental-state there-construction	Kyle & Sung: Robust automatic annotation of argument structure constructions

SUNDAY May 21

Registration, all talks, and all coffee breaks will take place at the main building of the Faculty of Arts, nám. J. Palacha 1

9:00 – 11:00	Registration: 1st floor (i.e. one flight of stairs up), in front of room #104
9:15 – 10:15	Plenary talk: room #200 Chair: Adele Goldberg Ray Jackendoff Parentheticals in the Parallel Architecture
10:15 – 10:45	COFFEE BREAK, room #116
	Session I: room #104 Chair: Jakub Jehlička	Session II: room #217 Chair: Timothy Colleman	Session III: room #111 Chair: Bertha Bloom
10:45 – 11:15	Feyaerts: The emergence of multimodal grammatical construct(ion)s through pointing gestures	Petré: Constructionist aspects of leaders and laggards in syntactic change: the dynamics of idiolect and conventionalization in Early Modern English syntactic constructions	Somers, Leuschner, De Cuyper, & Barðdal: The alternating Dat-Nom/Nom-Dat construction in Present-Day German: a corpus study

11:15 – 11:45	labdounane: Multimodality and construction grammar – A case study of the "this close to" construction	Ruf & Smirnova: Constructional family of German complex prepositions	Vander Haegen: German 'no matter wh-': exploring gradience through the lens of usage-based construction grammar
11:45 – 12:15	Lehmann: Multimodal constructions revisited. Testing for the association between syntactic constructions and non-syntactic features	Fleissner: Spatialization and poly-constructionalization in German: the emergence of 'come to mind' and light verb constructions	Olguin Martinez: Constructions in language contact situations: a usage-based perspective
12:15 – 12:45	Rantala: Request constructions of Finnish L2 learners and their possible multimodality	Zehentner: English prepositional verbs emerged through constructionalisation	Desagulier, Gervais d'Aldin, Aoues, Grezda: Optimising the network of complex prepositional locative constructions in French
	Session IV: room #104 Chair: Jan-Ola Östman	Session V: room #217 Chair: Edita Schejbalová
14:00 – 14:30	Kanetani: Wow! It wows me: deideophonization as schematization and constructionalization	Feltgen: The specifics of constructional change: a quantitative account of the semantic expansion of the French complex preposition en plein N
14:30 – 15:00	Colleman: On defining "niche" or "marginal" argument structure constructions	Verelst: A corpus-based constructionist approach to the diachrony of Dutch postpositions
15:00 – 15:30	Boas, Leino, Lyngfelt: What do construction grammarians think about construction grammar?	Redmond: Meaning at clause level: Old High German ibu -clauses in the complement-adverbial divide
15:30 – 16:00	Hartmann: Graphemic constructions	González-García: Capturing meaningful generalizations at varying levels of resolution: the case of the family of "ser muy de-PP" constructions in Spanish
16:00 – 16:30	COFFEE BREAK, room #116
16:30 – 17:30	Plenary talk: room #200 Chair: Paul Van Eecke Remi van Trijp How to keep construction grammar relevant in the age of Large Language Models
17:30 – 18:00	Closing remarks: Mirjam Fried
